This is the seventh of a series of new-style county histories which will include all of the 102 counties in Illinois and, ultimately, all of the 3,103 counties in the United States. The project, specializing in aerial photographs of cities, towns, villages and farmsteads, is known as The American Aerial County History Series.

In the preparation of this work on McDonough County, Illinois, the author and publisher hereby acknowledge their gratitude, for advice and assistance generously given them, to Mr. Joseph Wolf and Mrs. Ellen Chase of the Newberry Library, Chicago; to Mr. Herbert H. Hewitt, Mrs. Roberta Sutton and Miss Winifred Baum, all of the Chicago Public Library, Chicago; and to various librarians, public officials, business executives and private citizens of the city of Macomb Illinois. The author also wishes to express special acknowledgment to his wife, Marion Neville Drury, for research, editorial and proof-reading assistance.

Grateful appreciation is also shown here to officials of the Department of Public Works & Planning of the State of Illinois, in particular to those in charge of that department's Bureau of Research and Planning in the Highway Department, for permission to use the McDonough County maps included in this book.

Sources used by the author in preparing this book were: Atlas Map of McDonough County, Illinois, published by Andreas, Lyter & Company (Davenport, Iowa, 1871); Illinois: A Descriptive and Historical Guide, the American Guide Series (A.C. McClurg & Company, Chicago, 1939); County and City Data Book, 1952, United States Bureau of the Census (Washington, 1952); the Editor and Publisher Market Guide for 1954 (the Editor and Publisher Company, New York, 1954); and The Rand McNally Commercial Atlas for 1954 (McNally Company, Chicago, 1954).

Introduction

This is the first of a series of four papers which will contain all of the results of the work done in this project. The first paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ defined by the equation $f(x) = x + f(x^2)$. The second paper is devoted to the study of the function $g(x)$ defined by the equation $g(x) = x + g(x^3)$. The third paper is devoted to the study of the function $h(x)$ defined by the equation $h(x) = x + h(x^4)$. The fourth paper is devoted to the study of the function $k(x)$ defined by the equation $k(x) = x + k(x^5)$.

It is the purpose of this paper to study the function $f(x)$ defined by the equation $f(x) = x + f(x^2)$. The function $f(x)$ is defined for all real numbers x and is continuous. The function $f(x)$ is also differentiable for all real numbers x and its derivative is given by the equation $f'(x) = 1 + 2xf'(x^2)$. The function $f(x)$ is also bounded for all real numbers x and its range is the interval $[0, 1]$. The function $f(x)$ is also periodic with period 1. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/2$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/4$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/8$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/16$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/32$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/64$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/128$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/256$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/512$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/1024$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/2048$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/4096$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/8192$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/16384$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/32768$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/65536$. The function $f(x)$ is also symmetric about the line $x = 1/131072$. Story of McDonough County, Illinois

An extensive, level, fertile area in west central Illinois, situated between the Mississippi and Illinois rivers, McDonough County is noted for the abundance and high quality of its agricultural products, for its pottery artware and other manufactured goods and materials, and for its outstanding seat of learning, Western Illinois State College. The last-named is one of several "normal schools" for the training of teachers which were established by the Illinois state legislature late in the nineteenth century.

The principal city and county seat of McDonough is Macomb, which has a population (1952) of 10,592. In addition to Western Illinois State College, with its large campus and many buildings, Macomb contains the Haeger Pottery, the Western Stoneware Company and the Illinois Electric Company ... all leading firms in the creation of pottery and porcelain articles. These firms obtain raw materials from the numerous clay deposits in the vicinity of Macomb. Here, also, are a number of coal mines and oil wells. In the main, however, McDonough County is devoted to farming and stock raising, being in the midst of the Grain Belt of Central Illinois.

In The Beginning

When Illinois was admitted to statehood in 1818, what is now McDonough County was merely a prairie wilderness in Madison County. At that early date, Madison County embraced practically all of the upper part of Illinois ... a vast prairie region with here and there a settlement on some river bank.

As more and more homesteaders arrived in the state, however, several new counties were created out of Madison, and one of these was Pike County, organized in 1821. It embraced future McDonough County, as well as a major portion of upper Illinois, including Chicago, Peoria and Rock Island. There followed, a few years later, the establishment of several counties out of Pike (thus reducing its size), one of which, Schuyler, included the area that afterwards became McDonough County. Although the county of McDonough was organized by act of the state legislature on January 25, 1826, it was attached, for judicial and recording purposes, to Schuyler County until 1830.

First Settlers

Believed to have been the first settler of McDonough County was William Carter, who arrived with his family about the year 1826. He built a log cabin, and laid out a small farm, in the area just southwest of the future village of Industry. A year or two later James Vance and several others arrived in the same neighborhood, which soon came to be known as the "Carter Settlement."

Meanwhile, another collection of cabins appeared in the northwest corner of the county and this became identified as the "Job Settlement." It was located a little southeast of the future town of Blandinsville and was first settled by William Job, John Vance and a few others. Another early arrival in the county, Elias McFadden, laid out a farm just south of where the city of Macomb was later built. This farm was afterwards acquired by William Hunter.

In the course of time numerous other settlements grew up along the creeks of McDonough County and these were named after the streams on which they were located ... "Crooked Creek Settlement," "Camp Creek Settlement," "Sugar Creek Settlement," "Spring Creek Settlement."

County Government Organized

McDonough County, as we have seen, was organized by act of the state legislature on January 25, 1826. At first, however, its affairs were administered by neighboring Schuyler County. It was not until 1830 that the citizens of McDonough County ... then numbering 350 ... elected their first county commissioners, sheriff, coroner, etc. The order of this election was issued by Circuit Judge Richard H. Young, then holding court at Rushville, in Schuyler County.

At the first election, held in the log cabin home of Elias McFadden near the future site of Macomb, the following men were chosen for public office: James Vance, James Clark and John Hardisty, county commissioners; William Southward, sheriff; and Peter Hale, coroner. The new Board of County Commissioners then appointed Michael L. Stinson as clerk of the county pro tem.

As its next order of business, the County Commissioners designated the home of John Baker, in what is now Macomb Township, as a temporary county seat, adding that the small settlement around the Baker home "shall be known as the town of Washington for the present." This marked the beginning of the present city of Macomb.

Commodore Thomas MacDonough

When McDonough County was organized in 1826, it was named after Commodore Thomas Macdonough, famous American naval hero, who had died a year earlier. It was at the Battle of Lake Champlain (1814) that Commodore Macdonough defeated a British flotilla and saved the states of New York and Vermont from being invaded by the enemy. For this important achievement he was awarded a gold medal by Congress and estates by New York and Vermont. He died in 1825.

" McComb Is Platted"

Although the city of Macomb is named after Alexander Macomb, commander-in-chief of the United States Army from 1828 to 1841, very early county records list it as "McComb." We find that on March 8, 1831, the County Commissioners allowed a payment of $3.00 to James Clark "for going to Springfield to enter the land on which the town of McComb now stands."

At a meeting of the County Commissioners on April 11, 1831, a plat of the town of "McComb" was approved and designated as county seat, and John J. Keaton was "appointed to survey and lay off the town, two hundred and eight lots, commencing at the public square, and laying off an equal number of blocks on all sides of said square."

First Courthouse

In the same year Macomb was platted, McDonough County's first courthouse was completed in that town. In their instructions for constructing this courthouse, the County Commissioners stated that it "be built of hewn logs, 18 x 20, with a good white oak plank floor, above and below, laid loose; one door six and one-half feet high and three feet wide, faced and cased; a good batten door, with heavy iron hinges; one window to have twelve panes of glass and one to have six panes of glass, to be placed in said building by the instructions of J. M. Campbell, each window to have a good, strong batten shutter, hung with butt hinges; to be covered with boards four feet long, and good gutters and eaves."

We find that this first courthouse was built by William Southward, who, it is to be recalled, was elected first sheriff of McDonough County. For his services in constructing the courthouse William Southward was paid the sum of $69.50.

Second Courthouse

It was not long, however, before a movement was under way for the construction of a new courthouse in Macomb; one that would be larger and more ornate than the first edifice. This second courthouse was completed in 1834 at a cost of $4,832. It was a brick building, two stories high, with stone trimmings. It was used by the county until 1869, when the present McDonough County Courthouse was erected. In the same year that the second courthouse was built, the county completed its first jail a modest but sturdy structure erected by James Edmunsen for $434.25. It afterwards became the Macomb city jail and was long known as the Old Calaboose.

Governor Thomas Ford

One who early appeared as a state's attorney in McDonough County was Thomas Ford, afterwards to become a governor of the State of Illinois. During the second term of the Circuit Court in Macomb, held in 1831, the state's attorney present was Thomas Ford. Presiding was Judge Richard M. Young. Also present were William Southward, as sheriff, and James M. Campbell, as clerk. At that early day the judges and state's attorneys traveled in a "circuit" of several counties.

Village of Industry

When an early settler, Johnson Downen, laid out the village of Industry about 1840, he offered a tract of ground to John M. Price on one condition -- that Price immediately open a blacksmith shop on the plot and thus set a standard for industrious activity. Price agreed to the proposition, and thereafter the new village came to be known as Industry. In addition to maintaining a blacksmith shop, Price gave further evidence of his industry by serving as the village's first postmaster. The village was incorporated as a town in 1867. Today, the town has a population of 496. It is the largest community in Industry Township.

McDonough County Agricultural Society

A pioneer organization that played an important part in the development of the county was the McDonough County Agricultural Society. It was organized in 1854. One of the society's first objectives was the staging of an annual county fair at Macomb. It afterwards acquired a tract of land and built a permanent fair grounds on the site. Here, in the years following, were held annual county fairs which dramatically presented all of the agricultural richness of the county.

Bushnell is Born

Now the second largest city in the county, with a population of 3,117, Bushnell was laid out and platted in 1854 by J. L. Troymen, D. P. Wells and J. D. Hale. At first the location was known as "West Prairie," there being few wooded tracts in the area.

On record as the first to build a house in Bushnell is Dr. Hiram Markham. Not only did his building serve as a dwelling house, but it was also used as a general store, a church, a community hall and a postoffice. Dr. Markham was Bushnell's first storekeeper, first postmaster and first school teacher. Bushnell was incorporated as a town in 1865 and as a city in 1869.

Coming of the Railroads

An event of great importance in the history of McDonough County was the arrival of its first railroad ... the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad. Although this road was surveyed through the county in 1855, it was not until 1857 that McDonough residents saw their first wood-burning "iron horse" on the line.

An early account describes this railroad as "one of the safest and pleasantest routes of travel in the state. It is kept in excellent condition, and is the best paying road in the United States. Its dividends to stockholders are very large, and its stock, though eagerly sought, can seldom be found on the market.

A few years after the "Burlington" road was opened, there was built through the northern part of the county the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad. There followed the laying out on this line of several villages and towns, among them Good Hope and Sciota. In due course several other "steam roads" were completed and McDonough County soon was shipping its products to Chicago and other markets.

Village of Many Names

In its beginning years just after the Civil War, the village of Good Hope was a bit confused over its three or four names. It all began in 1866 when J. E. Morris laid out a village here he called Sheridan, the site being on the right-of-way of the proposed Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad. A year later William F. Blandin appeared and platted a rival town just west of Sheridan, calling it Milan.

All during this time, however, a country postoffice named Good Hope was in operation at the place. When the railroad finally came, tickets were issued to Sheridan, conductors called out Milan, and all mail was delivered to Good Hope. And not only that, but some resident folk were referring to the place as Clarkesville, in honor of its first settler. The mix-up was finally ended when the postoffice department ruled out all other names but Good Hope.

Third Courthouse

After serving the county for some thirty-five years, McDonough's second courthouse was finally declared to be too small and outmoded, and plans were soon formulated for a more roomy and more ornate third courthouse at Macomb. This was completed in 1872. Of brick construction with stone trim, this third courthouse is three stories high and is surmounted with an ornamental tower and Mansard roof. The cornerstone of the edifice was laid in 1869 by the Masonic Lodge of Macomb.

Western Illinois State College

Although the Illinois state legislature established it in 1869 as one of several "normal schools" in Illinois for the training of teachers, it was not until September, 1902, that Western Illinois State College at Macomb opened its doors for the first time. In that year 370 students were enrolled in the "normal college" and 180 in the institution's training classes. The college is located on an attractive, landscaped campus on West Adams Street, between Charles and Normal avenues, in Macomb.

It was during the fall quarter of 1950-1951 that Western State had the largest enrollment in its history ... 1,566 students from all parts of west central Illinois. The institution today owns more than 290 acres of land, seventeen buildings, a nine-hole golf course, a ninety-acre farm, a swimming pool and a student lounge. It is said that the total investment in the college's physical plant today amounts to $6,500,000.

Spring Lake Park, Glenwood Park

Two outstanding recreation spots of McDonough County today are Spring Lake Park and Glenwood Park, both located on US 67, just north of the city of Macomb. Marked by hills, ravines and wooded tracts, the parks offer swimming pools, picnic grounds, hiking trails and other recreational facilities. They are largely visited by Macomb residents during the summer months.

The Shakespeare Garden

A unique attraction in McDonough County, one fondly remembered by several thousand former students of Western Illinois State College and by visitors to Macomb, is the Shakespeare Garden at the home of Dr. Irving Garwood, who for more than twenty years was head of the English department at Western State. Familiarly known as "The Forest of Arden," this garden (private) is located on the grounds of the Garwood home at 216 North Normal Avenue, in Macomb.

In a setting of such old-fashioned flowers as wild thyme, marigolds and love-lies-bleeding, all grown from seeds imported from Stratford-on-Avon, the Garwood garden is the scene, each Midsummer Eve, of student productions of Shakespeare's As You Like It and A Midsummer Night's Dream. After the performance, old ballads are sung and traditional English dances are executed on the lawn of the Garwood place.

The plays are presented on a stage covered with earth brought from Stratford-on-Avon. Seats for the audience are placed in a natural amphitheater bordered by the Shakespeare flowers and backgrounded by rows of Lombardy poplars. In addition to being the author of several books, Dr. Garwood is a lecturer of note, one of his most popular talks being "The World of William Shakespeare."

"Who's Who" in McDonough County

In the latest edition (1954-1955) of that standard reference work, Who's Who in America, are found the names of two McDonough County residents who have national reputations in the field of education. These are Dr. Irving Garwood and Dr. Frank A. Beu.

A native of Ada, Ohio, where he was born November 28, 1883 Dr. Garwood, after completing his higher education at the University of Chicago and at Harvard University, taught in various schools and colleges throughout the country and then, in 1924, was appointed head of the English department at Western Illinois State College in Macomb. He remained in this post until 1946.

In addition to his work as an educator and lecturer, Dr. Garwood is well known as an author. Among his more widely read books are Questions and Problems in American Literature (1927), American Periodicals From 1850 to 1860 (1931), The Heath Manual of Literature of England (1930), New Studies in American Literature (1937) and The College Assembly (1947).

Dr. Frank A. Beu has been president of Western Illinois State College since 1942. He was born at Huntley, Illinois, on September 2, 1898. After completing his studies at Northwestern University, Dr. Beu served as a teacher and principal in various Illinois schools and in 1928 was appointed professor of education at Eastern Illinois State Teacher's College, Charleston, Illinois. Here he remained until his selection as president of Western State in 1942.

McDonough County Today

On the basis of the 1950 census (the last taken), McDonough

County has a population of 28,199 and, in this respect, ranks as 1,012th among the 3,103 counties in the United States. This 1950 census figure marks an increase of 4.7 per cent over the 1940 figure. The county has a land area of 582 square miles and its density of population is 49 inhabitants per square mile.

As for distribution of the population, 13,909 inhabitants are classified as urban dwellers, (living in cities, towns and villages, and 14,260 as rural dwellers. In the latter group are 8,034 farm dwellers and 6,256 non-farm residents. Under the heading of age classification, there are 2,682 babies under the age of five years and 3,524 persons sixty-five years old and older. The median (average) age of the total county population is 32.2 years. The potential number of voters (citizens twenty-one years old and over) is 18,550.

Vital statistics figures show there were 611 live births in 1950 and 329 deaths (including seventeen infants). Marriages totaled 273. The number of families (two or more persons related by blood or marriage) is given as 7,425. The median (average) income of families in 1949 was $2,567. Of the total number of families, 34.4 per cent had an income in 1949 of less than $2,000 and 12.5 per cent had an income of $5,000 or more.

With a population of 4,410 young persons of school age (between the ages of seven and seventeen), McDonough County has 2,825 of these enrolled in primary schools, and 1,256 enrolled in high schools. Of persons twenty-five years old and over in the county, the median number of school years they completed is 10.3. In this same group, 3.9 per cent had less than five years of schooling and 40.8 had primary, high school and college education. The number of persons confined to mental and other institutions is 116.

Of the potential labor force in the county, McDonough has 21,717 persons fourteen years old and over, of which 74.7 are males. Of this total, 10,073 are presently employed ... 2,799 in agriculture (27.8 per cent), 1,539 in manufacturing (15.3 per cent), and the remainder in other fields. But a larger number are employed in wholesale and retail trade than in manufacturing, the figure being 1,975.

In the field of housing, the county has a total of 9,082 dwelling units (in 1940 it had 8,441 units). The median number of rooms per unit is 5.6. Again, 85.8 per cent of the total are one-dwelling unit detached structures, 6.4 per cent are houses built in 1940 or later, 46.2 per cent have hot running water, private toilet and bath and are not in a dilapidated condition, 61 per cent are owner occupied, 50.4 per cent have central heating, 81.2 per cent have mechanical refrigerators and 96.7 have radios. In the county there are 6,511 houses classified as non-farm dwelling units (which includes urban, suburban and country homes) and the median value of these units is given at $5,477. Of the renter-occupied houses in in this category, the median gross monthly rental is given at $38.31.

Retail trade figures for 1948 (when last taken) show that there were 403 retail stores in McDonough County which, in that year, grossed $28,777,000 in sales. Practically all of the stores were unincorporated businesses conducted by active proprietors. There were 1,487 persons employed in all of the stores of the county during 1948. The largest category among retail stores was the food group, with a total of 83 and with gross sales amounting to $5,865,000. The next largest were eating and drinking places, totaling 67 and with gross sales amounting to $1,700,000. In 1948 there were 67 wholesale establishments in the county which grossed a total of $36,064,000 in sales.

On the basis of census figures for 1947 (when last taken in the manufacturing field), the county had 32 manufacturing establishments in that year and these earned an amount totaling $5,632,000. They employed an average of 1,514 workers and paid salaries and wages amounting to $3,439,000.

On the 350,000 acres of land in McDonough County under cultivation, there are a total of 2,103 farms, of which 1,891 are commercial farms. A little more than 42 per cent of the total are operated by tenants. The average value of land and buildings per farm in the county was $37,648. In 1949 the value of all farm products sold, including crops, livestock, dairy and poultry products, amounted to $16,887,000. In that same year, such farm expenditures, as feed for livestock and poultry and wages for hired labor, amounted to $3,068,000.

In all of the banks of the county, on December 30, 1950, there were deposits in the total amount of $23,627,000, with time deposits amounting to $4,860,000. The three savings and loan associations of the county had on hand, on December 30, 1950, savings capital amounting to $2,789,000 and first mortgage loans outstanding in the amount of $3,150,000.

City of Macomb

Located in the center of McDonough County and served by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad and US 67 and State 10, the city of Macomb had a 1950 population of 10,592 ... an increase of 20.9 per cent over its 1940 population. An unofficial estimate for 1954 places the city's population at 11,500. Another unofficial estimate designates Macomb as the center of a retail trading area with a total population of 43,379.

As the story of Macomb is largely the story of McDonough County, details of its past may be found in the opening narrative of this book. The city had its beginning in 1830 when it was platted as the county seat of McDonough. Today, it is widely known as a manufacturing and residential community and as the seat of Western Illinois State College, first opened in 1902. Here, also, is the unique Shakespeare Garden, and two outstanding recreational areas, Spring Lake Park and Glenwood Park.

In 1948 the city had a total of 170 retail stores which employed 985 workers (who were paid wages amounting to $1,522,000) and which grossed $16,819,000 in sales. In 1953, however, total retail sales were unofficially estimated at $23,200,000. The largest number of retail establishments in 1948 were food stores, of which there were 34 and total sales of which amounted to $3,191,000. The next largest group were eating and drinking establishments, whose total sales amounted to $963,000. There were 29 such establishments.

Among outstanding department stores in Macomb are Montgomery Ward & Company, Sears Roebuck & Company, J. C. Penny & Company, Kline's, Scripps-Reno Company and the Brown Lynch Scott house. Here, also, are branches of such national variety store chains as F.W. Woolworth and J.J. Newberry. Two national drug store chains, Walgreen and Ford Hopkins, are represented by one store each in Macomb. Among the city's many grocery stores are two supermarkets operated by Kroger and A&P.

Noted for its pottery and porcelain products, Macomb is the site of such leading manufacturers in this field as the Haeger Pottery, the Western Stoneware Company (flower pots) and the Illinois Electric Porcelain Company (porcelain ware). Here, also, are located the Macomb Milk Products Company (cheese), the Hemp & Company, the Globe American Company and the Chicken Brooder Company.

The two banks of the city have resources totaling $18,660,000, with deposits amounting to $17,540,000. Only newspaper of the city is the Macomb Journal, published each evening and which has a circulation of 9,471.

Bardolph

Just northeast of Macomb, on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, lies the village of Bardolph, with a population of 253. A small portion of Bardolph is situated in adjoining Mound Township. Although at first called Randolph after the firm that platted it, William H. Randolph & Company, the village's name was later changed for some reason, to Bardolph. The village was laid out in 1854.

Bethel Township

Situated in the southern part of the county, Bethel Township has a population of 464. There are no villages in the township. It was first settled in 1830 by John Gibson. Soon thereafter other newcomers arrived, among them the Archers, Dansworths, Matthews, Marks and Edmundsons. Two pioneer Baptist ministers, Old Father Bradley and Thomas Owens, preached in the log cabin home of Benjamin Matthews as early as 1835. The township's first supervisor was J. H. Dunsworth and its first justice of the peace was Cavil Archer.

Blandinsville

One of the oldest towns in the county, Blandinsville today has a population of 918. It is located on the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad and State 9. The town was platted in 1842 by Joseph L. Blandin, an early settler. In that same year C. R. Hume built the first house. In association with Joseph Blandin, Hume opened the first general store and built the first flour mill. Hume also served as first postmaster.

An early description of Blandinsville stated, among other things, that it "was decidedly the best point of trade between Bushnell and Warsaw." The population of Blandinsville Township is 1,350. First settler of the township was William Jobe, who came in 1830. His cabin soon attracted other settlers and the place became known as Jobe Settlement.

City of Bushnell

Second largest city in McDonough County is Bushnell, with a population in 1950 of 3,317. This is an increase of 14.1 per cent over its 1940 population. The city is on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and the Toledo, Peoria & Western railroads, as well as on state highways 9 and 41.

Bushnell was founded in 1854 by J. L. Troyman, D. P. Wells and J. D. Hale. Its first building, which served as a home, general store, church and postoffice, was constructed in 1854 by Dr. Hiram Markham.

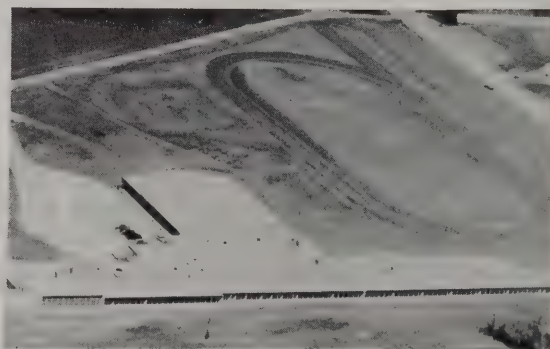

Bushnell is the only community in Bushnell Township, which today has a total population of 3,666. First house in the township was built in 1836 by Matthew Brown Robinson. In 1865 the township was cut in half to form a new township, that of Prairie City.

Southwest of Macomb, in a fertile farming country, lies the village of Fandon, only community of Chalmers Township. It had a 1950 population of 103. Although the first settlers of Chalmers Township were Daniel and David Troxwell, Berry Jones and a Mr. Palmer, they did not remain longer than a year after their arrival in 1829. Soon after they came, John D. Barber arrived and he became a permanent resident. It was in 1832 that James Edmundson and John Patrick platted a village in the township they called Middletown. This name was later changed to Fandon.

Third largest city of McDonough County is Colchester, with a population of 1,551. It is located on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad and on US 136. The city was platted in 1855 by Lewis Little. At an early date Colchester became the center of an extensive coal mining area. The first house in the city, which also served as a general store, was built by D. W. Campbell. In 1858 the community's first church was erected by the Methodists, and the first sermon was preached by the Rev. Stephen Brink. Colchester was originally in Tennessee Township. Today, it is the only community in Colchester Township, with a total population of 2,022.

Eldorado Township

In the southeast corner of McDonough County lies Eldorado Township, with a population of 466. The township was first settled in 1831 and the first house there was built by A. J. Foster. Among other early arrivals in the township were the Harrises, the Hegans, the Lawyers, and the Powers. Another early settler was James Hobert, a veteran of the American Revolution. An old account of the township states that "timber, coal and building stone are found in great quantities in the southeastern part of the township." The account adds, however, that "the largest portion of this township is prairie land, excellent for farming purposes."

Emmet Township

Just northwest of Macomb city stretches Emmet Township, with a population of 698. Parts of the township were annexed to Macomb City Township in 1940 and 1946. The township was first settled in 1831 by William Pennington and John Wyatt. Soon afterwards came the Humberds, Swichells, Russells and McCords. An early and frequent visitor in Emmet Township was the Rev. John Logan, pioneer Baptist preacher. He delivered the first sermon in the township in 1832. The first supervisor of the township was Tobias G. Painter.

Industry

Principal community of Industry Township is the village of Industry, with a population of 496. The village was laid out about 1840 by Johnson Downen. At that time Downen offered a tract of land to John M. Price on one condition ... that Price immediately open a blacksmith shop on the plot and thus set a standard for industrious activity. Price agreed, and thereafter the new village came to be known as Industry. In addition to maintaining a blacksmith shop, Price gave further evidence of his industry by serving as the village's first postmaster.

Doddsville

A smaller community in Industry Township is Doddsville, with a population of 47. It is served by the postoffice at nearby Littleton, in Schuyler County. Doddsville derives its name from Webster Dodds, an early landowner of the region. The total population of Industry Township is 1,079. First settler of the township was William Carter, who also was the first settler of McDonough County.

Colmar

In the southwest corner of McDonough County may be found the village of Colmar, with a population of 96. It is the only community in Lamoine Township. Through it runs the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad. The village was platted in 1857 by William Grave. Just east of the community lies Colmar Lake.

Lamoine Township today has a population of 508. Through it runs the Lamoine River, sometimes called Crooked Creek. First settlers of the township were David Fees and Thomas and Benjamin Power. Soon afterwards came the Whittington, Twidwell and Meyer families. The first supervisor of the township was John S. Holliday.

New Philadelphia

In the eastern portion of the county, on the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad, lies the village of New Philadelphia, with a population of 173. It is the largest community of Mound Township. The village was founded in 1857 by Lloyd Thomas. The township in which it is located has a total population of 590. Joseph Smith, who arrived about 1832, is credited with building the first house in the township. Other early settlers were the Crafford, Kepple, Creed, McCandlass and Jackson families.

Epperson

The only other community in Mound Township is the hamlet of Epperson. It is located southwest of New Philadelphia on the right-of-way of the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad. Epperson is served by the postoffice at New Philadelphia.

Macomb City

As the city of Macomb is in a township of its own, known as Macomb City Township, a full description of that community may be found in the opening chapter of this section. Portions of the original Macomb Township were annexed to the city in 1944 and 1948 to form the new Macomb City Township.

Adair

Located almost in the center of New Salem Township is the village of Adair, with a population of 342. Through it runs the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad and US 136. Adair was platted in 1870 by John Reedy and Jacob Grim, and in its beginning years was sometimes referred to as Reedyville.

Originally settled about the year 1828, New Salem Township today has a total population of 813. The first house in the township was built by William Pennington. His son, Perry, was the first person to be born in the township. First supervisor of New Salem was James H. Epperson, who afterwards became a justice of the peace in Bushnell City.

Prairie City

In the northeast corner of McDonough County is located the town of Prairie City, with a population of 500. Through it runs the Chicago Burlington & Quincy Railroad and State 41. The town was laid out in 1855 by Ezra Cadwallader, Ansen Smith, Ezra D. Smith and Edwin Reed.

An early educational institution of the town was Prairie City Academy, built in 1857 under the supervision of John B. Fast.

Originally, Prairie City was in Bushnell Township, but in 1865 the latter was cut in half and Prairie Township formed. This township today has a population of 775. The first house in the original Bushnell Township was built in 1836 by Matthew Brown Robinson. One of the township's earliest justices of the peace was Alonzo Barnes, of Prairie City.

Another community in the township is the hamlet of Sciota, with a population of 128. It is located on the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad.

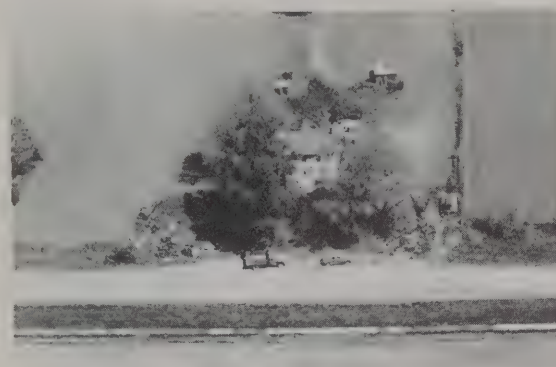

Good Hope

The village of Good Hope, with a population of 392, lies north of Macomb on US 67. A small portion of the village is situated in adjoining Walnut Grove Township. Through it runs the Toledo, Peoria, & Western Railroad. A village called Sheridan was platted here in 1866 by J. E. Morris, and, a year later, another village adjoining Sheridan was laid out by William F. Blandin and called Milan. A confusion of names resulted until it was finally decided to name the place Good Hope after an early postoffice on the site.

Good Hope is in Sciota Township, which has a population of 938. It was first settled about 1836. The first house in the township was built by Presly Purdy. Among earlier arrivals in the township were John Hainline, Benjamin Clark and V. M. Hardin. The first supervisor of Sciota Township was James M. Wallen.

Scotland Township

Just southeast of Macomb lies Scotland Township, with a total population of 662. First settlers of the township were Dr. Charles Hays and Cyrus Walker, both from Adair County, Kentucky. They arrived in 1832 and built log cabins immediately afterwards. In later years, Dr. Hays became a prominent Macomb physician and Cyrus Walker gained eminence as an outstanding Illinois lawyer. Among other early settlers in the township were the Campbells, Allisons, Clarks and Harlans. The first supervisor of the township was I. P. Munfort.

A village on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, lying southwest of Macomb, is Tennessee. It has a population of 249. Through it runs US 136. The village was incorporated in 1862. Its first police magistrate was W. D. Ellis. The village is the only community in Tennessee Township, which has a population of 650. The township was first settled in 1830 when Roswell Terrell built a log cabin there. Soon afterwards came the Kirks, Cockerhams, Lowers, Jenkins and Hunts. The first school in the township was opened in a log cabin in 1833 and taught by Samuel A. Hunt, who in later years was elected treasurer of McDonough County.

Walnut Grove

Near the northern boundary of McDonough County is situated the village of Walnut Grove, with a population of 58. Through it runs the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad. It is the largest community in Walnut Grove Township, which has a total population of 702. The township was first settled in 1835 by Sidney Gear. The first birth in the township was that of Flora M. Walker, daughter of Gilmore Walker, who was born in the year 1836.

Scottsburg

The only other community in Walnut Grove Township is the hamlet of Scottsburg. It is located on the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad. When first platted, it was called Darwin Station.

Points of Constitutional Law.

Congress must meet at least once a year.
Congress may admit as many new states as desired.

One State cannot undo the act of another.
By the Constitution every citizen is guaranteed a speedy trial by jury.

Congress cannot pass a law to punish for a crime already committed.

A person who commits a felony in one State cannot find refuge in another.

Treaties with foreign powers are made by the President and ratified by the Senate.

The territories each have a delegate to Congress who is allowed the privilege of debate, but not the right to vote.

The Vice-President, who ex-officio presides over the Senate has no vote in that body except in case a tie ballot.

If the President holds a bill longer than ten days while Congress is in session it becomes a law without his signature.

An act of Congress cannot become a law over the President's veto except on a two-thirds vote of both houses.

The House of Representatives may impeach the President for any crime, but the Senate has the sole power to try all impeachments.

Amendments to the Constitution of the United States require a two-third vote of each House of Congress, and must be ratified by at least three-fourths of the States.

The President of the United States must be at least 35 years of age; a Senator, 30; a Congressman, 25; The President must have been a resident of the United States fourteen years.

A naturalized citizen is not eligible to the office of President of the United States. A male child born in a foreign land to American parents has an equal chance to become the President with one born on American soil.

The United States shall guarantee to every State a Republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion, and on application of the Legislature or of the Executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened), against domestic trouble.

TECHNICAL DATA.

- To find diameter of a circle multiply circumference by .31831.
 To find circumference of a circle multiply diameter by 3.1416.
 To find area of a circle multiply square of diameter by .7854.
 To find surface of a ball multiply square of diameter by 3.1416.
 To find side of an equal square multiply diameter by .8662.
 To find cubic inches in a ball multiply cube of diameter by .5236.
 Doubling the diameter of a pipe increases its capacity four times.
 Double riveting is from 16 to 20 per cent, stronger than single.
 One cubic foot of anthracite coal weighs about 53 pounds.
 One cubic foot of bituminous coal weighs from 47 to 50 pounds.
 One ton of coal is equivalent to two cords of wood for steam purposes.
 A gallon of water (U. S. Standard) weighs 8¼ lbs. and contains 231 cubic inches.
 There are nine square feet of heating surface to each square foot of grate surface.
 A cubic foot of water contains 7½ gallons, 1728 cubic inches, and weighs 62½ lbs.
 Each nominal horse power of a boiler requires 30 to 35 lbs. of water per hour.
 To sharpen dull files lay them in dilute sulphuric acid until they are eaten deep enough.
 A horse power is equivalent to raising 33,000 lbs. one foot per minute, or 550 lbs. one foot per second.
 The average consumption of coal for steam boilers is 12 lbs. per hour for each square foot of grate surface.
 To find the pressure in pounds per square inch of a column of water, multiply the height of the column in feet by .434.
 Steam rising from water at its boiling point (212 degrees) has a pressure equal to the atmosphere (14.7 lbs. to the square inch).

Knots and Miles

Source: United States Coast and Geodetic Survey

The U. S. Statute Mile is 5,280 feet in length. On the Continent most of the old miles, which varied in length from about 3,300 feet to over 36,000 feet, have been replaced, officially at least, by the kilometer, which equals 0.6214 statute mile or 3,280.8 feet.

The Nautical, Geographic, or Sea Mile at any place is considered, for purposes of navigation, to be equal to the length of one minute of latitude at that place.

The U. S. Nautical Mile is 6,080.20 feet in length and equal to one-sixtieth of a degree of a great circle of a sphere whose surface is equal in area to the area of the surface of the earth (Clarke's spheroid of 1866).

The Knot is a measure of speed; a speed of one knot being a speed of one nautical mile an hour.

A Nautical Mile — 1.1516 statute miles; a Fathom — 6 feet; a Cable — 100 fathoms or 600 feet or approximately 0.1 nautical mile.

To convert statute miles into nautical miles, multiply statute miles by 0.8684; to convert nautical miles into statute miles, multiply nautical miles by 1.1516, or roughly 11/7.

United States Air Forces and the Navy use the knot as the standard aeronautical unit of speed and the nautical mile as the corresponding unit of distance.
